Cooper Going For Full 22 Orbits

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Gordon Cooper, a superb space pilot but a mighty quiet man, whirled steadily around the globe today with a green light to go for the full 22 orbits of his assigned mission.

During the 16th orbit, Mercury Control Center at Cape Canaveral evaluated the condition of the astronaut and spacecraft systems and then waved Cooper's Faith 7 past a go-no-go decision point over Australia.

"Roger, very good," was Cooper's reaction when the tracking station at Muchea, Australia, relayed the good word.

If anything had been amiss, Cooper would have been ordered to fire his spacecraft reverse rockets over the eastern Pacific for a landing in the Atlantic Ocean.

Control center officials reported the pilot was "in excellent condition. He is strong, his attitude is good and he is managing his systems excellently."

Cooper, 36, an Air Force major completed his first 24 hours in space shortly after 8 a.m. while whirling eastward in his 16th orbit. During that time, he got a good night's rest of about 7½ hours.

"Did you have any dreams?" Cooper was asked as he passed near Cape Canaveral not long after he awoke.

"Negative," he replied. "I slept too soundly."

Cooper wasn't saying much. "I think he must be saving words for posterity or something," said Lt. Col. John A. Powers, the voice of Mercury Control.

But as a pilot, Cooper's performance topped anything by a U.S. astronaut so far.

His use of the fuel and oxygen supplies of his Faith 7 spacecraft were excellent. As his 16th orbit began, Powers reported that Cooper had 70 per cent of the fuel supply remaining in Faith 7's automatic control system, 90 per cent in the manual system. In his first 24 hours aloft, he consumed only 25 per cent of his primary oxygen supply and none of his emergency supply.

However, Powers said absolutely no consideration was being given to a possible extension of the flight past 22 orbits.

Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., who is aboard the tracking ship Coastal Sentry off the coast of Japan. Tracking stations kept silent through the night.

And then at 5:26 a.m., Powers said, trackers in Muchea, Australia, "heard a familiar voice," it was that of Gordon Cooper.

Cooper reported that he had some discomfort during the night when his spacesuit heated up. But he said he adjusted the temperature setting and went back to sleep.

Powers said the astronaut reported that "as far as he was concerned everything on the spacecraft was nominal."

Nominal is an astronaut word meaning normal.

If all goes as planned, Cooper's "Faith 7" spacecraft will parachute into the Pacific Ocean during the 22nd orbit, landing at 6:23 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, today some 80 miles southeast of Midway Island near the aircraft carrier, Kearsarge.

Early in the flight, and while Cooper, 36, chatted his way from sunset to sunset as if he did this sort of thing every day, the earth-bound technicians and scientists were jubilant.

After describing the operation as a "textbook flight" "perfect" and "beautiful," they described themselves as "overjoyed"—and then ran out of adjectives.

As for Cooper, he dined—sort of—around 5 p.m., some nine hours after he blasted aloft with a rumble and a flash from Cape Canaveral atop a 360,000-pound thrust Atlas rocket.

For food he had aboard some bite-sized protein packed cubes which he could consume, wrapping and all, and some squeeze tube stuff which has yet to be endorsed by gourmets.

During the 9th orbit—about 8:45 p.m.—the 147-pound Cooper reported he was knocking off work for a while.

With this word, the ground communications stations hung a verbal "do not disturb" sign on the "Faith 7."

However, when the spacecraft passed over the command ship, Coastal Sentry off the coast of Japan, Cooper checked in with astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.

Said Glenn: "We had a message out around the range to keep things quiet."

Cooper: "Roger."

Glenn: "Did you say you were asleep just before this pass?"

Cooper: "I was daydreaming, looking out the window."

At this point, Glenn said he knew Cooper wanted to get so slumber and "We'll tell everyone to go away and leave you alone. Okay?"

It was difficult to tell whether Cooper yawned at this point, but if so, it was the longest distance yawn in history. In any case the "Roger" was a sleepy one.

For 90-Day Trial Period

Meter Installation In Leetonia Okayed

LEETONIA — James F. Caye, representing the Koontz Equipment Corporation of Pittsburgh, was given permission to install 18 parking meters in the village when Council met Wednesday.

The meters will be installed on a free rental basis for a trial period of 90 days, during which time all income from the meters will go to the village. At the end of the trial period, if Council wishes to purchase the meters, the cost will be $39.50 each, minus a $5 trade-in on old meters, making the total price of each meter $34.50.

Method of payment for the meters, if purchased, will be on a basis of 50 per cent of money collected in meters to be placed in the village parking meter fund with the remaining 50 per cent to go to the Koontz Corporation.

In preparation for the homecoming parade June 5, Council approved oiling parts of High, Allen and Front Streets to be used by traffic when other streets are closed.

Permission to purchase a new power lawn mower for use of the street department was given to Richard Kleinknecht, street commissioner.

Two contracts were received from Harold Wurster of Leetonia to mow the banks along Cherry Valley Creek. Each contract was for the period of one year at a price of $725 per year.

The sum of $1,000 was transferred from the general fund to the cemetery fund.

CD Officials Urge County Take Action

Convinced that Salem Civil Defense is more advanced in planning than is the Columbiana County Civil Defense, 20 Salem C.D. workers who met Wednesday night decided that county commissioners should be encouraged to further civil defense plans soon.

Harmon E. Zepernick presided at the meeting last night in Council Chambers of City Hall, and named Harry Waller, manager of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., chairman of a committee to seek a meeting with county commissioners in the near future.

Zepernick, local C.D. director, pointed out that national and state Civil Defense organizations are more interested in seeing progress in county C.D. plans than in plans of individual cities.

"To be really effective here, we must have full and organized participation of all 33 townships and cities in Columbiana County," Zepernick declared.

After the committee of Salem C.D. workers has met with the commissioners, Zepernick will call another meeting of local civil defense men and women, who number about 30.

Hearings End On Blue Laws

Senate Committee Studies 4 Proposals

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
New Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS — It will be another week, possibly two, before the senate judiciary committee decides which, if any, blue law bill to send to the senate floor. The committee wound up public hearings on four bills in a marathon session Wednesday during which more than 20 witnesses testified.

Committee Chairman Fred Hoffman, R-Cincinnati, said the committee will begin voting on the bills individually next Wednesday and may hear testimony on any amendments "considered extremely important to a bill."

Hoffman said he is certain at least 10 amendments will be offered to the house-passed bill that bans Sunday sales of real or personal property except for a broad list of items deemed necessary to the health, safety or welfare of the buyer.

That bill is being pegged as the most likely to reach the senate floor if committee members can agree on the troublesome list of exempted commodities.

Most of the objections to the bill have been directed at the commodity list, which witnesses say contains countless inconsistencies.

Hoffman said the house bill will be the last to be considered by the committee. "I feel reasonably sure that we'll get to the other three Wednesday," he said, but he was not certain the committee would have time during that session to vote on the house bill.

The committee has been considering the bills at the relaxed

Catholic Pupils Get Diocesan Awards

From the hands of Bishop James Malone of Youngstown, 98 area high school seniors who attended weekly Confraternity of Christian Doctrine classes for four years received certificates of graduation at St. Paul's Church here Wednesday evening.

In the top picture, a cassocked cross-bearer and acolytes are shown leading a procession of graduates from St. Paul's School to the church before the 8 p.m. service.

The high school seniors came from parishes in Dunganon, West Point, East Liverpool, East Palestine, Leetonia, Lisbon, Salem, Salineville, Summitville, Wellsville and Sebring.

About 600 persons attended the graduation.

Russians Execute Convicted Spy

MOSCOW (AP)—Tass said today Olg Penkovsky has been executed in accordance with the sentence pronounced last Saturday in the spy case involving Greville Wynne, a British businessman.

The Soviet news agency said the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet rejected an appeal for clemency by Penkovsky, 44, sentenced to death after being convicted of high treason. He was shot. Penkovsky was a former deputy chief of the State Committee on Scientific Research and Coordination.

Wynne also 44, was sentenced to eight years in confinement. He contended before the military court which tried him with Penkovsky that he had been tricked by the British intelligence service into serving as a courier for Soviet military, political and economic secrets ferreted out by Penkovsky. The court ruled the two were members of a spy network that fed 5,000 films of secret Soviet documents to the West in 16 months.

Hodges To Speak At Mt. Union Graduation

ALLIANCE — Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges will be the speaker at the 117th commencement exercises of Mount Union College Sunday, June 2.

Mount Union President Carl C. Bracy will give the baccalaureate address.

Baccalaureate is at 11 a.m. and commencement at 3 p.m., both in Memorial Hall.

Secretary Hodges was appointed to the Kennedy cabinet in 1961 after serving six years as governor of North Carolina.

In his first two years in the cabinet, he has visited five continents in a world-wide campaign to promote greater sales of U.S. goods abroad, to attract tourists, and to encourage the investment of foreign capital in the United States.

While engaged in the textile industry, Secretary Hodges held assignments in the Textile Division of the Office of Price Administration and with the Agricultural Department.

Upon retirement from private business in 1950, he spent more than a year in West Germany as head of the Industry Division of the Economic Cooperation Administration and was consultant to the Stitte Department in 1951 on the International Management Conference.

He was lieutenant governor of North Carolina before becoming governor.

East Liverpool Man Burned by Wires Dies

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — A man burned critically when he apparently was touched by high-voltage wires while hitching a ride atop a freight train died Wednesday night.

Louis Bernard Noland, 25, East Liverpool, Ohio, had been burned over 90 per cent of his body earlier in the day.

2 Youngstown Firms Low

W. Reserve Board Studies School Bids

BERLIN CENTER — Two Youngstown construction firms appear to be neck-and-neck at the moment on bidding for the general contract for the new $590,000 Western Reserve High School, the district's Board of Education discovered after 11 bids were opened Wednesday.

Superintendent of Schools Maurice Jones said the Nespeca Construction Co. and W. A. Pesa and Son Inc. were the apparent low bidders on the general contract. The Youngstown firms were only $1,000 apart on the base bid, although amounts specified for alternates vary.

The board deferred the awarding of the contract until May 22 to give further consideration to the 11 alternates specified.

The alternates require decisions by the board on such matters as type of flooring, type of wainscoting in the classrooms and corridors, type of wainscoting in the gymnasium, parking area, blacktopping, a bus garage, roofing, concrete paneling for the building front, and gym seating.

The board also delayed award of contracts on the kitchen equipment, plumbing, heating and ventilating, and electrical work.

Apparent low bidder of seven companies bidding on the kitchen equipment was Zabel Equipment Co. of Youngstown.

Firestone Electric Co. of Salem was apparent low bidder on the electrical contract, with five companies submitting bids.

The board faces a tough decision on the plumbing, heating and ventilating contract since some companies bid on all jobs while others bid only on heating. Seven bids were received.

The board hopes construction will begin this month on the new structure at the Route 224 and Duck Creek Rd. intersection. Pinpointed at the near - geographical center of the 50-square mile district, the building will replace inadequate, upper class facilities at the Berlin Center and Ellsworth Buildings.

The school was designed by Smith, Buchanan and Smith, Youngstown architects, who will be paid six per cent of the cost of construction.

Extradition Order Upheld

Three Mahoning County men Wednesday lost a legal maneuver to avoid extradition to West Virginia on a burglary charge.

However, the suspects, a Mil Dinsio, 26, of Poland and Daniel Marshall, 33, and Harold Dailey, 32, of Austintown, were granted a 20-day stay of execution of the extradition order by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard at Lisbon to permit them to appeal his ruling to the 7th District Court of Appeals.

Bonds of $10,000 for Dinsio and $2,500 each for Marshall and Dailey were continued by Judge Buzzard.

In a vain effort to secure dismissal of the extradition proceedings, through habeas corpus action, the burglary suspects' attorney, Jack W. Nybell of Youngstown, cited misspelled words in the legal documents.

He also called to the stand Gene D. Costalas, 67, Weirton, W. Va., resident who was tied up March 28 by two masked men who ransacked his home and stole $800, including several albums of rare coins allegedly found in possession of the suspects following their arrest later that night at a truck stop near Columbiana.

Costalas was unable to make positive identification of any of the suspects.

The three men previously were bound over to the Columbiana County grand jury on charges of carrying concealed weapons the night of their arrest.

Overpass Detour Paving Scheduled

Resurfacing of the detour route to be used during construction of the W. State St. overpass is likely to begin about May 27.

This was the latest development after several members of City Council and Solicitor Thomas Coe complained that the overpass construction work was being rushed and that the detour route should be paved first, as promised.

State Highway Director Pearl Masheter told Mayor Dean B. Crammer Wednesday afternoon, in a telephone conversation, that the resurfacing schedule will be set up as quickly as possible.

Open Bids On Tuesday The department will open bids at 10 a.m. Tuesday in Columbus on the resurfacing with asphaltic concrete of the detour route, and actual resurfacing work is expected to be started the following Monday, May 27, the mayor was informed.

Streets to be resurfaced with a two-inch topping include Sharp Ave. from W. State St. to W. Pershing St., W. Pershing from Sharp to S. Ellsworth Ave. and S. Ellsworth from W. Pershing to W. State St.

Another two inches of asphalt will be poured on the same streets next year after the overpass has been completed and the detour removed, according to plans.

One-Way Traffic For Awhile Meanwhile, Richard O'Horo of the A. P. O'Horo Co. of Youngstown, overpass contractor, has offered to leave open for the time being one side of W. State St., which can be used for one-way traffic west. At the same time, Pershing St. will be available for one-way traffic east.

The contractor has offered to haul and supply fill-dirt free to the 14 residences in the immediate area of the overpass construction.

The home owners were compensated some weeks ago for damages to their homes being incurred by the construction of the 538-foot railroad grade separation. In awarding damages, officials took into consideration that the home owners would have the expense of reversing their

Duvalier Declares He'll Stay In Office

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Haiti's Dictator-President Francois Duvalier insists he will remain in office despite reports abroad that he is planning to flee his rebellion-threatened country. "Haiti will continue under my administration," Duvalier told American correspondents summoned to his palace Wednesday in an apparent effort to scotch reports he intended to flee. By showing himself unscathed, Duvalier 56, scored a victory over enemies who had sworn to kill him rather than let him begin a new presidential term.

Duvalier's constitutional term of office expired Wednesday, but he declared himself re-elected for six more years after a rigged ballot two years ago.

Duvalier's regime plans a splurge for his inauguration May 22. Haitians throughout the country are being herded into trucks and carted to Port au Prince.

The people also are being forced to "contribute" to help defray expenses of the inaugural celebration.

"Papa Doc," as he is known to the Negro Haitians may survive that day, too, but foreign observers of Haiti's troubles give him no more than another year at the helm of his impoverished, fear-ridden little nation.

Clement Barbot, once Duvalier's right-hand man, has sworn to kill his former chief and is at large somewhere in Haiti with a band of underground fighters.

Haitian exiles abroad have been reported planning invasions of the country.

The other nations of the hemisphere are solidly opposed to his dictatorship though as yet they have not been able to agree on any action against him.

Despite the opposition, Duvalier exuded self-confidence as he appealed for better relations with the United States but made plain he would not tolerate outside interference in his rule.

Duvalier assailed the "shortcomings of certain men" in the United States "who should have directed their efforts toward understanding Haiti and its people."

He added, however, that relations between Haiti and the United States are easier at the moment.

PROBING CRASH OF JET

LUKE AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz. (AP)—Investigators tried today to determine what caused the crash of an F100F jet trainer in which two Air Force officers were killed. The crash northwest of Phoenix Wednesday killed Capt. James W. Church, 31, an instructor pilot whose parents live in Akron, Ohio, and student pilot Lawrence P. Vacirca, 23, of Los Angeles.

YOUTH KILLED BY CAR

Newcomers Club Holds Columbiana Election

COLUMBIANA — Miss Janice Bethel, home economist for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. of Salem, presented a cooking demonstration for members of the Welcome Wagon Newcomer's Club Tuesday at the Gas Co. office in Salem.

Election of officers followed the demonstration with the results: Mrs. William McMahon, president; Mrs. John Bodue, vice-president; Mrs. Marvin Lunde, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Richard Hollen, recording secretary; and Mrs. Edna Dickey, treasurer.

There were three first-timers at the meeting, Mrs. Lena Allison, Mrs. William Sponseller and Mrs. Robert Lynch.

Atty. Lawrence Stacey will present the program at the next meeting June 11. Stacey will relate the facts concerning actual court cases, and club members will act as the jury, comparing their verdicts with the ones actually handed down.

A traveling bake sale will be held by the club June 8, beginning at 10:30 a.m.

BROWNIE TROOP 3 will have a mother-daughter banquet at the Lutheran Church at 5:30 p.m. their mothers are asked to bring a coverdish and table service.

Troop 3 leaders are Mrs. Merle Esterly and Mrs. Floyd Coleman. Members of brownie Troop 3 are to meet at the Lutheran Church parking lot at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, and will attend the dance recital at South Side School by students of Shirley's Dance Studio.

Seventy-five persons attended the mother-daughter banquet held by the Church of the Nazarene at Crestview School Monday. Mrs. Raymond Kulow of Hubbard was guest speaker.

A trio composed of Mrs. Virgil Blosser, Mrs. Dayton Randolph and Mrs. James Couchenour sang selections accompanied by Mrs. Barbara Billips. Miss Brenda Carter read a poem.

KILLER'S FRIEND NABBED

DETROIT (AP)—The one-time girl friend of Thomas Viola, serving a life prison term in Ohio for murder, has been arrested here on charges of assisting Viola after his escape from Ohio Penitentiary in 1960.

Two FBI agents recognized Gertrude Martha Sloan, 43, identified as a citizen of Canada, as she walked along a residential street here Wednesday. Viola was recaptured at the Sloan woman's apartment here in 1961 and has since been returned to the Ohio prison. The woman will be tried June 11 on charges of harboring a fugitive, authorities said.

SONIC BOOM RELIEF

PERU, Ind. (AP) — Residents along the Midwest corridor used by the Air Force for flights by B58 bombers will be relieved of sonic June 30.

We Needed This One, Gentlemen

It had been a long time since Alan B. Shepard Jr. and Virgil I. Grissom demonstrated in the summer of 1961 that the United States was on the way belatedly with its space project. Their suborbital flights lasted only a few minutes, compared with the full orbital flight of the Soviet Union's Yuri Gagarin, first human being to orbit the earth.

It had been a long time since the perfect six-orbit flight of Walter M. Schirra last October, opening the way for the climactic effort this year of L. Gordon Cooper. John Glenn and Scott Carpenter were fading out of memory. Our space spirits needed a lift.

LET SCIENTISTS and space explorers be as preoccupied as they choose to be with space probes. Let politicians and nationalists be deeply concerned with the importance of keeping up with and ultimately passing the Russians, who were first in space and hope to become first on the earth.

But for the rest of us—all of us footing the staggering bill for this costly space project—there is another reason for wanting success.

Our morale needs it. We are stuck in the sand at our own doubts.

We are crying with a loaf of bread under our arm, but we're crying. We miss a feeling once universal among Americans that this country is an automatic first; that it always can do anything any other country can do, better.

We crave the sensation of full-speed-ahead progress.

Americans want to believe no other society can match strides with this unique society of free men.

WE NEEDED to finish the Mercury project with a success, not just for scientists and space explorers but for all of us.

Suddenly, it isn't enough to have the most bath tubs, telephones, refrigerators, TV sets, autos, picture windows, air conditioners and cholesterol deposits.

It has become important to know we can match the best efforts of any competitor in any chosen field and our Russian competitors have forced us to tackle space.

We needed a success. Thank you, Major L. Gordon Cooper. Thanks again, all other astronauts of Mercury Project. All good wishes for your future success and the success of your successors, who will try to reach the moon.

And good wishes for our success, too. We need to make our "systems" go a lot better than some of them have been going lately.

In Case of Doubt

Coincidence brought together two viewpoints on Cuba at the close of last week.

One was an interview with Premier Fidel Castro in which he expressed a surprising mood of conciliation toward the United States. Coming from one who recently has been lionized in Moscow, this will interest both the "Hayanalysts" and the "Kremlinologists."

The other interests all of us. It was a summary of the major findings in a report by the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee on the Soviet buildup in Cuba.

It said at least 17,500 Russian "technicians," including 5,000 combat troops, are still in Cuba, despite the ultimatum demand.

It said it was likely that Soviet missiles were concealed in caves in Cuba, implying these could be both strategic and tactical, despite assurances by the Central Intelligence Agency that all strategic missiles had been withdrawn.

It said Premier Castro is fomenting revolution in Latin America, that as many as 40,000 Soviet citizens are in Cuba, including "technicians" and combat troops and implied that gaps and goofs in U.S. intelligence-gathering measures throw a shadow of doubt over information from these sources.

What is happening in Cuba has ceased to be a proper subject for debate. There is only one reasonable point of view on Cuba. That is to assume that the Soviet Union is doing there what it could be counted on to do anywhere else—make Communist hay while the sun shines.

What could be sillier than to argue over conflicting estimates of how much it is doing when in all probability all the estimates are too low?

If everybody were to assume that Moscow is going all-out while it has the chance, nobody would be far from wrong. The opposite assumption—that Moscow has changed its nature and is cooperating with the United States—has no support either in history or current events.

Out of Mind

British Conservatives are indignant about a Labor party announcement that the party's left wing will not flap until after the next general election. This wing wants full speed ahead with all-out socialism, and its flapings scare the buttons off Britain's non-socialist majority.

Party leader Harold Wilson, striving for an image that will make the possibility of his prime ministership something less than scary, is reported to be pleased with the arrangement. He, himself, was a left-wing flapper of note before the death of Hugh Gaitskell. Mr. Wilson announced he would be independent of factions when he became Gaitskell's successor.

It's all part of the game. British leftist aren't the only ones who know when to stay out of sight and out of mind.

Three years ago in the United States, when the Democratic party was getting ready for a general election, it played down the labor union sponsorship that had been conspicuous in the 1956 election, when its presidential candidate was shellacked.

No labor union sponsors were seen or heard during the 1960 Democratic convention. Remember?

By Truman Twill

It's Not Justice

A currently popular word in Washington is "comparability." It is what Americans in military uniform do when they "compare" their incomes with incomes elsewhere.

If Astronaut Gordon Cooper wanted to make a thing of it, he could compare his measly pay for risking an orbital flight with the far greater pay of any one of several hundred categories of workers who wouldn't be shot into space for all the tea in China—or all the bonds in Wall Street.

When the armed forces pay bill was being chewed over before its passage in the U.S. House of Representatives, it was pointed out that junior officers draw less pay than the lowest-paid New York teamster, so that a naval petty officer's family and the petty officer himself qualify for public relief in some states.

This can be carried on at length. A teamster in New York City cannot be paid less than $416 a month, yet a graduate of West Point, Annapolis, or the Air Force Academy, crammed full of knowledge and dedicated to his country's defense starts his career at $268 a month.

This is "comparability."

If the people who play this game in public service sometimes get red-necked with anger, they should sit in on the game as played in private service. It is not for nothing, public jobholders, that they say the theme song of free enterprise at the working level is "Days of Wine and Neuroses."

This is the place where "them that has gits" and the "poor get poorer."

This is where the man of the cloth stands up in the pulpit to save the souls of parishioners who pay him less than the man who mows the lawn.

"Comparability" is not just something that the millions who live under the wage and salary system brood about on special occasions. They talk about it every waking hour of their lives. And they always ask the same question:

"Why shouldn't I make as much as he does?"—he being the rival they envy most and admire least.

Not once in a million times does anyone play "comparability" the other way around, asking why he should be making more than the fellow who admires him least and envies him most.

It wouldn't be once in three lifetimes that anyone would admit he was being overpaid and underworked; it isn't human nature to look at things that way.

"Comparability" does work both ways though. For every military man who knows he should earn more because he is worth more there is a civilian who wishes he could trade what he has for the military man's security and his forthcoming pension.

For every 10 industrial workers brooding about their need for more take-home pay there is one agricultural worker who would swap his sunrise-to-sunset pittance for an 8-hour shift, with overtime and fringe benefits.

Next to tennis "comparability" is the greatest get-nowhere, prove-nothing game there is. Obviously, the fellow who's making more is stealing the money and should divvy it up. Just as obviously the lumphead beneath you on the pay scale belongs there.

It's just not justice that your worth isn't recognized and rewarded, that's what it isn't.

Integration Held Harmful to White, Negro Pupils

By DAVID LAWRENCE

The "law of the land" can be a federal statute or any provision of the Constitution but a Supreme Court decision is "the law of the case" and holds good only for the fact and circumstances set forth in that particular case.

This differentiation now takes on new significance because of a decision just rendered by U. S. District Judge Frank

M. Scarlett. He has ruled in a case tried at Savannah, Ga., that integration of the public schools can be harmful to both Negroes and whites and that the evidence on which the Supreme Court of the United States based its decision in 1954 ordering desegregation of public schools was not supported even by tests previously made by one expert in the psychological field who had testified that segregation was harmful.

The net effect of the new decision, if upheld by the Supreme Court, could be to limit the 1954 case to the principle of a political right whereby persons of any color are entitled to attend public schools, but are subject to educational standards which would be recognized as a valid basis for admission or rejection of applicants.

THE FINDINGS of Judge Scarlett are in part as follows: "Plaintiffs' assumption of injury to Negro students by the continuance of segregated schools is not supported by any evidence in this case."

"Whatever psychological injury may be sustained by a Negro child out of his sense of rejection by white children is increased rather than abated by forced intermixture and this increase is in direct proportion to the number and extent of his contacts with white children.

"Each study presented to the court, confirmed by the opinions of the witnesses, showed that the damaging assumption of inferiority increased whenever the child is brought into forced association with white children."

"The principal author of the studies relied on by the Supreme Court in the Brown Case (1954 decision) used students from integrated schools in Northern states in getting the race rejection results which were then cited as showing such effects occurring from segregation."

"Moreover the same author in an earlier study came to the conclusion that compulsory intermixture rather than racial separation in school was the principal source of the damaging loss of race identification."

"The adverse effects on compulsory congregation are particularly harmful in the early formative school years."

"Intervenor's witnesses noted that integration at the collegiate level is not only possible, but on a voluntary basis might be of advantage to both white and Negro students. The findings herein are accordingly limited to children of primary and secondary school ages."

THE COURT further ruled that "selective integration would cause even greater psychological harm to the individual Negro children involved and to the balance of their group."

The intervenors in the current case charged in their brief before the court in Savannah that one expert who had testified in the 1954 school desegregation case was on the payroll of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and that this was not revealed to the Supreme Court.

The brief contends also that the court wasn't told that the same expert had earlier conducted tests which produced a different finding from that which he submitted to the court.

Judge Scarlett's conclusions in the Savannah case are as follows: "1. The white and Negro school children have equivalent rights before this court and are equally entitled to be considered in determining the scope and content of constitutional rights."

"2. A reasonable classification within the meaning of the equal protection clause of the Constitution would be one which secures the maximum result in the educational process for all students and minimum injury to any."

"3. The classification of children in the Savannah, Chatham County schools by divisions on the basis of coherent groups having distinguishable educability capabilities."

THE DECISION of the 1954 desegregation case by the Supreme Court turned largely on allegations that Negro children were unable to get an equal education under segregation in public schools.

The latest findings by Judge Scarlett say, in effect, that in integrated schools they will receive less of an education for the tests showed the average of white pupils was far above the Negro average.

The findings on this point are described in Judge Scarlett's statement as follows:

"These differences in test results, Savannah, Chatham County, are not the result of the educational system or of the social or economic differences in status or in environment of the students."

These test results agree on a point - for - point basis with substantially identical results obtained from similar tests made in other areas of this country and abroad, and in both segregated and integrated situations. ...

"Failure to attain the existing white standards would create serious psychological problems of frustration on the part of the Negro child which would require compensation via tension - creating anti-social behavior."

In other cities, this effect has created serious discipline problems for administrators, with consequent loss of school time.

In New York, 37 per cent of Negro truants questioned in a study stated that they had run away from home because of failure to keep up in school."

The statement of findings declares, moreover, that the difference in test results between white and Negro students "is attributable in large part to hereditary factors predictably resulting from a difference in the physiological and psychological characteristics of the two races."

Income Tax Cut Before Fall

By VICTOR RIESEL

Congress will positively vote a tax cut before it goes home in the late fall. President Kennedy's congressional leaders have told him so. They have counted the noses and the ayes have it. Such political scientists on the Hill as Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, Hubert Humphrey, the whip and Wilbur Mills, chairman of the impregnable House Ways and Means Committee have assured the White House in several recent conversations.

One of these men has told the President that the tax bill will slash about twice as much from taxes paid by the citizenry as it will from the levies paid by the nation's business.

Despite all the confusion, the flummery, the pressures, this means that the final financial surgery will follow labor's program far more than it will industry's.

The man who really handles the scalpel is the gentleman from Arkansas, Chairman Wilbur Mills. Traditionally he listens and listens before he moves.

If the administration is listening harder to the labor people whom he president has been soft-selling en masse, it is vital to know just what the labor leaders and their men on the Hill have been saying to Chairman Mills.

What is their program?

THEY WANT a "two-step" tax slash. First they want the bulk of the cut to be taken from the lower income groups. Typical is labor's demand that the new tax law wipe out any federal payments by the head of a family of four whose income is $3,400 annually.

Labor puts it this way: Immediately establish a minimum standard deduction of $400 for an individual taxpayer. Give him $200 more allowance for each dependent. Don't remove the present $500 personal exemption for each. Thus a family of four would have tax free income of $3,400.

As for the unmarried taxpayer, he or she would owe nothing on the first $1,000 of income.

Labor wants other cuts: Its lobbyists want the 20 per cent tax on the first bracket taxable income under $2,000 a year pushed down.

They would divide a $2,000 yearly income into two parts. On the first $1,000 they would have the worker pay 12 per cent instead of 20 per cent (current tax). On the second $1,000, they would have him pay 15 per cent. This is for an unmarried person.

FOR THOSE who are married and paying on a joint return, the labor people want the first $2,000 of income to be taxed at 12 per cent instead of the current 20 per cent.

Labor also wants swift tax relief to small businesses. The unions' proposal would cut the tax on the first $25,000 a year profit from 30 per cent to 22 per cent.

Labor wants this entire program to be what the professionals on the Hill call "a quickie" cut. The unions' program would have the cut retroactive to last Jan. 1. This would give the country an immediate $10 billion cut, they say.

Naturally the labor program is tough on the big corporations and what labor's literature calls "the rich." Labor complains that under President Kennedy's current plans, almost half the tax cut would go to industry and "to the 15 per cent of the taxpayers in the top-income brackets."

SO LABOR'S second step is its "loophole closing" proposals. The AFL-CIO wants to tighten the tax law on capital gains income by "extending the holding period from six months to one year."

Under the current law, for example, an actor making a killing on the stock market, which is out of his line of business, pays 25 per cent tax on the profit if he holds his securities six months, but 50 per cent if he sells before the half-year period. This goes for real estate, etc.

This, the AFL-CIO refers to as a tax evasion dodge. Thus the Objects to Boys' Trip

I think the public is gullible to be taken in with certain solicitation fund projects, like sending two high school boys to Europe for a month to attend an American chorus tour, sponsored by the Salem Music Study Club and other organizations.

How much studying can be accomplished in a few weeks? Spending $1,500 to $2,000 for such a trip could be put to better use right here at home.

labor people want tax cut with "reforms." In this they are finding some support from Congressmen Mills.

But none of this will stand in the way of a tax cut, whatever its form, with or without reform, this fall.

There will be almost solid backing from the President, including backing from Southern Congressmen. They are uneasy over some Republican inroads and are talking of a "closer-nit Democratic party," despite the intensity of emotions at the moment on other issues.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing to you in the hope a close friend of mine will see my letter. To put it realistically, I should say I hope someone will see it and call it to her attention.

This is the problem — she doesn't see a darned thing but she's too vain to wear glasses.

The woman is in her late 40s, very good-looking, and easily could pass for 35, if she didn't have deep furrows in her forehead and crow's feet around her eyes, which, of course, are the result of years of squinting.

She also has a reputation as a snob which is undeserved. The woman passes up people on the street right and left because she doesn't see them.

Please, Ann, a few lines in your column may encourage these foolish people to get the help they need. Thank you.—MRS. 20-20 WITH GLASSES.

Dear 20-20: Here is the letter. I hope someone reads it to your friend. Glasses these days are so smart, many a girl has fake myopia.

Well-designed specs often add to a person's appearance. And incidentally, some aging matrons look years younger in glasses because the frames hide the pouches under the eyes. And for those who have an aversion to glasses, there are contact lenses.

Family Bread Winner

Dear Ann: I am 18 years old and I have been married for two months. My husband lost his job the same week we were married. I took on a night job in addition to my eight-hour day shift because we owe on a car, appliances, furniture, clothing and he was up to his neck in debt before we married.

I get only four or five hours sleep at night and when I'm awake I'm on the go every minute. I believe my husband is really trying to find work but things are tough in this town and he hasn't had any luck.

I'm not complaining about his unemployment, but rather that he refuses to do anything around the apartment to help me. He won't shop for groceries or straighten up the place or even start supper.

When I get home exhausted, I have to cook, clean and do the washing and ironing. If I'm expecting too much from him please let me know. I'll take your advice.—HANDS FULL.

Dear Full: Eighteen years old married two months and off to a lousy start. You could have waited awhile for this deal.

That husband of yours should be helping straighten the apartment, he should be doing the marketing, the cooking and anything else which might make your life easier. Any woman who has proved her willingness to go the extra mile, as you have, deserves all the help she can get.

Not Time Nor Place

Dear Ann: Several months ago my husband and I entertained a couple in our home. When they left, the woman said, "We had a lovely time. And now you must come to see us sometime."

My husband has been nagging me ever since to go visit these people. I keep telling him we'll go when we get an invitation. He insists we have been invited and repeats the "come and see us sometime" line.

I have told him repeatedly that I don't consider this an invitation but he claims I am thin-skinned and too formal.

If I am wrong about this I wish you would tell me. If my husband is wrong, please tell him so he will get off my back. Thank you.—NOT SURE.

Dear Not: "Come and see us sometime" is a polite phrase equivalent to "how are you?" About 95 per cent of the people who ask, "How are you?" don't really care. And the same goes for people who say, "Come and see us sometime."

A meaningful invitation includes a specific day and time.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Millions Trace Cooper Flight Progress Via TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—As the seconds ticked away, one could feel the mounting tension at Cape Canaveral. It was in the background bustle. It was in the voices of the television and radio commentators, in spite of their best efforts to be brisk and business-like. And it was inside the millions of people who for 24 hours had waited and watched to see the Faith 7 and its human cargo boosted into space.

Later, in the continuing reviews and recaps, on all three major TV networks, through the afternoon and evening, it was merely interesting to see—once again—a huge missile roar into the sky. By then we knew that the launching had been practically perfect and the capsule was in, as they said, "the textbook orbit." But watching it live was something else entirely, even after five other shoots. The viewers' palms were moist, his breath was short at the critical moment.

Unfortunately, the television broadcast from the tiny, slow-scan camera inside the capsule, was so fuzzy that the uninitiated could identify little of anything. One gathered that it was the helmet and head of the astronaut at the upper left of the picture but it could have been any object. May be it will be better next time.

Throughout the day, the networks followed the flight's progress. There were bulletins on the half hour and there was printed news on the screens, otherwise occupied by the endless parade of time-killing light diversion. Thus we at home knew in remarkable detail the temperature inside the capsule, even inside the suit, the moment the astronaut tried some exercises, started some experiments and even when he decided to eat lunch.

CBS moved fast Wednesday, chopping approximately in half a scheduled hour-long "CBS Reports" and adding a quick postscript to its recent treatment of Rachel Carson's book "Silent Spring." It was broadcast Wednesday night within hours after release of a federal report on insecticides urging more study of their use and effects.

Miss Carson and her book were credited by commentator Eric Sevareid with starting the sharp controversy over the effects of modern chemical killers on the balance of nature and mankind itself. On the program, Miss Carson said she felt vindicated by the report. A spokesman for the chemical industry was given an opportunity to restate its position—that the insecticides are safe if used as directed.

It was smart, alert journalism. And it didn't hurt to edit a dull and meandering exploration of the pros and cons of federal farm subsidies.

Goldwater Asks Halt to Fund Drives

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says he has asked three California GOP groups to stop raising presidential campaign funds for him.

Goldwater said Wednesday he had written two organizations of volunteers, notifying them he isn't a candidate for the 1964 nomination and that he wants them to halt any fund collection for that purpose.

To avoid embarrassment of individuals involved, he didn't name the groups. He said he had reports a third organization was collecting funds, but didn't know its name so had written a GOP county chairman asking him to act.

The action by Goldwater was somewhat similar to that taken by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in calling off the efforts of former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight to organize a nomination drive or the New Yorker in California.

Goldwater insisted he was acting only in line with his repeated announcements that he is only running for re-election to the Senate next year.

"We are still sending back 'Goldwater for President' checks that come in," he said. "Of course, we're glad to keep contributions made for the senatorial campaign."

Beyond that, Goldwater said he has continued to refuse any help from groups who are trying to "draft" him for the national nominations.

The Arizona senator professed ignorance of internal moves to realign the Republican party organization in California since former Vice President Richard M. Nixon decided to move to New York.

GET HEROISM AWARDS

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The first recipients of the Lake County Firemen's Association's new heroism awards are a 15-year-old Painesville girl and a North Madison man.

Plaques were presented Wednesday to Shirley Young an O. K. Bush Jr. The girl was cited for saving her two younger sisters in a fire that swept their home Dec. 21. Bush rescued two small boys who had been swept under the ice in a train-swollen creek near his home March 12.

ADOPTS RIGHTS PROGRAM

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Northeast Ohio Acting Association of the United Church of Christ has adopted a sweeping Civil Rights program.

It urges support of fair housing legislation now before a state legislative committee; support of the Birmingham, Ala., Negroes; a promise to work for laws to provide aid to children of the unemployed, and a reaffirmation of the church's position that every local congregation and church-related institution accept new members without discrimination due to race.

Congress has passed a law protecting all eagles.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Gals: Know those old plastic bleach jugs? Many a hint has come into this column on how to use them. They have often been used for garbage containers after the top has been cut off.

Sometimes when we peel lettuce, tomatoes, potatoes, etc. . . this excess collects water while accumulating in our sinks.

I have found that I can cut off the top of one of these jugs and use it for a garbage collector in my sink. I heat my ice-pick over the gas burner and after the point is hot push it through the bottom of that wonderful bleach jug and it will allow the water and drainage to go right on down, . . . that old sink.

(Don't do this with a new ice-pick unless you are sure it's guaranteed because some ice-picks are no good after you heat them.)

AFTER ALL we don't throw our garbage away every minute

TRY SALEM NEWS WANT ADS

do we? It takes us (I figure) about two hours to fix our supper, eat it, and wash the dishes.

So . . . keep one of these beautiful plastic jugs (cut-off about six inches high) in your kitchen sink. After all of the watery substance has drained off your vegetables etc. then put it in your garbage, turn on the water faucet and rinse that plastic container.

Leave it in your sink. You are going to use it tomorrow, tomorrow and tomorrow once you get used to it.

I have also found — by accident — that these big plastic jars are excellent to keep lettuce in. If you punch a few holes in the bottom of the jug.

Know why?

THEY FIT a head of lettuce! Exactly. Also . . . with a few holes punched in the bottom . . . any excess moisture will leak out and prevent that goop from forming! (I am sure that all you gals know what that goop is). I hate to ruin a head of lettuce like THAT!

The plastic container is very sanitary, can be cut any size and this little bit of plastic will keep lettuce from bruising! And did you know that lettuce DOES bruise? It does.

But best of all it's free. When you can utilize something, don't ever throw it away.

HELOISE. Speaking about spray bottles:

I fill my spray bottle which has a finger-type plunger with . . . your old friend vinegar! Then add some very hot water in the bottle.

I use this fluid to wash my windows! All one has to do is to do is to squirt it on and wipe it off. The heat of the water who mixed with the vinegar works like magic. Windows clean faster.

ELLEN.

By golly! I just cleaned two windows with this method. The heat does loosen the residue faster.

Thanks Ellen.

HELOISE. DEAR HELOISE: Here's a time saver when making gelatin desserts. Use frozen fruit cocktail instead of the ice cubes.

Dissolve the powder in hot water as usual, then add the frozen fruit cocktail, broken in pieces with a fork and just stir it in.

While you are stirring the gelatin, the fruit cocktail slowly melts and before you can say "boo" . . . the gelatin is practically congealed!

You do not have to remove the fruit as you ordinarily might when using ice cubes and it gets cold much faster. No trouble at all.

Accord on Mindszenty Reportedly Reached

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—The Vatican, the United States and Hungary's Communist government reportedly have reached an agreement that will allow Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty to leave for Rome.

High Vatican sources said they expected the 71-year-old Roman Catholic primate of Hungary in Rome in a few days to assume a high Vatican post.

Informants in Budapest reported Wednesday night that long negotiations proved fruitful.

Freeing of the cardinal would remove one barrier to resumption of normal diplomatic relations between the United States and Hungary and would improve relations between the Vatican and the Hungarian government.

No information was available on details of the agreement, but it is believed to include other concessions to the Vatican.

The Hungarian Communist sentenced the prelate to life imprisonment in 1949 for alleged high treason. Liberated in the 1956 uprising, he took refuge in the U.S. Legation in Budapest when the Soviets crushed the revolt and he has been there ever since.

Strengthening of Chemical Pesticide Laws Advocated

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's Science Advisory Committee contends that every year 150 Americans—half of the children—are killed through misuse of powerful chemical pesticides.

To protect humanity and wildlife the committee urges strong and speedy action to assure more judicious use of chemical pesticides, including a strengthening of federal laws relating to control of their marketing and use.

The report was issued late Wednesday by the White House with this accompanying word from the President:

"I have already requested the responsible agencies to implement the recommendations in the report, including the preparation of legislative and technical proposals which I shall submit to the Congress."

At the Agriculture Department, Secretary Orville L. Freeman said he welcomes recommendations that will strengthen his agency in "its continuing efforts to insure the proper use of pesticides, to increase the efficiency

Mayor Cranmer said today that the W. State St. home owners who have not yet poured new driveways from their garages to the new access roads, may park to one side of the service road until their private driveways are ready.

"When the lines for the two access roads were drawn up, care was taken to see that the roads were planned properly for drainage," the mayor said.

Cooper

During the 11th orbit there was a moment when doctors thought the astronaut was dreaming. His heartbeat jumped suddenly to 100 beats a minute and then dropped back to a steady 38 to 60 beats.

After a study of telemetry data, however, the space monitors said Cooper's spacesuit temperature had risen 20 degrees. He apparently awoke suddenly—causing the faster heartbeat—reset the temperature and went back to sleep.

Since Cooper had been launched on an inclination to the equator of 32.5 degrees and the earth kept moving under him, the capsule slipped more and more to the southeast from the Cape during the day.

He passed South Africa, Australia, India, Indo-China and mainland China.

On the 7th orbit Cooper had gone into drifting flight which meant the spacecraft was rotating aimlessly through the trajectory remained fixed by the ballistic impulse.

But it didn't make any difference to Cooper since he was weightless anyway and couldn't tell up from down.

As America's foremost space jockey, Cooper was so completely unawed by his experience that he took an unscheduled doze during his second orbit—which was understandable since he had been up since 2:50 a.m. Wednesday.

At one point early in the flight the Cape Canaveral capsule communicator, astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., asked Cooper, "Great sport, isn't it?"

Cooper's answer was a succinct, "Yeah."

Schirra was the holder of the previous U.S. record of nine hours and 13 minutes, set Oct. 3, 1962.

The world record is held by a Soviet Andrian Nikolayev, who began a 94-hour, 34-minute flight across 1,612,000 miles on Aug. 11, 1962. Cooper will go 600,000 miles at most.

Whatever else Cooper does, record or not, he will prove for American space scientists the ability of a man to survive and work during prolonged space flight.

Over South Africa he tested the ability of an astronaut to sight three million-candlepower lights on the ground.

If he gives a favorable report such lights probably will be placed around the world to guide future astronauts back from trips to the moon.

This whole business started at 8:04 a.m. Wednesday when Cooper blasted off Launch Pad 14 here. He went into a true orbital attitude over Bermuda at 17,546 miles per hour.

Bermuda thus became the first low point on his flight — 100.2 miles—while he reached a maximum altitude of 165.8 miles initially over Australia. The elapsed time from low point to low point was 88.45 minutes.

In the course of his flight, Cooper became the first American astronaut to pass over Red China. He was to make six passes over mainland China.

The Chinese had no immediate comment.

President Kennedy watched the launch on a television set in his office.

In Japan, Europe, Africa and South Africa there were regular news reports on the progress of the flight. The Soviet's Tass news agency gave the flight only 62 words, but Radio Free Europe was beaming the report behind the iron curtain.

The attempt to beam live television to Europe, however, was a flop because of a mixup which sent meaningless pictures and sound across the Atlantic via the Relay I communications satellite.

There was better reception later. Mrs. Cooper — Trudy — and the Coopers' teen-age daughters, Camala and Janita—watched the launch on television at their Houston, Tex., home. They had talked to the astronaut earlier by telephone.

SON'S BIG DAY—Mrs. Hattie Cooper beams a proud smile as she watches her son's big day on television in Tecumseh, Okla.

Mrs. Cooper was able to follow the flight on a special communications set which once was installed in Schirra's "Sigma 7" spacecraft. She could hear her husband's voice as he passed over Texas.

Cooper's mother, Hattie Cooper commented in Tecumseh, Okla., after the launch: "I'm not exactly worried any more—just anxious for it to be over."

Cooper's grandmother, Orena Herd, rocked in her chair, sobbed softly and said, "I'm just thankful to the Good Lord that He gave him a good start."

Cooper was the first astronaut to report that he could see his booster engine following so close that he could see it still smoking. "Boy, oh boy, is she ever close," said Cooper.

During his pre-rest period operations, Cooper became the first known astronaut to launch another satellite from a spaceship in orbit.

This was a flashing, xenon gas beacon—the kind used to warn motorists at roadsides—which was to be used by Cooper to determine how well he could measure distance in space.

He also carried out a number of radiation measurements, but his attempt to expel a tethered balloon to measure atmospheric drag in space was a failure. The balloon ejection equipment would not operate.

Cooper had 19 tracking stations around the world to which he could—and did—talk. It wasn't all business.

Over Guaymas, Mexico, for example, the ground communicator was astronaut Virgil I. Grissom. Said Grissom: "Everything looks good down here and we are giving you a go for seven more."

Deadpan, Cooper asked, "Thirty how many?"

Grissom: "As many as you want." Then everybody broke up with laughter.

rate of once a week for two months. Hoffman has been scheduling the bills last on the usually lengthy judiciary calendar. The committee convenes at 9:30 a.m. but blue law testimony rarely starts before 11.

Three Other Proposals

The other three bills being considered would:

Repeal all Sunday closing legislation.

Repeal the blue laws with the provision that there could be no advertising for Sunday business and no special Sunday sales.

Tighten the penalty section of the existing law.

Hoffman said he has no idea which bill the committee will go for, but he indicated a bill would be reported out. "There has been no consensus that I've seen among the members," he said. "We'll report a bill that four of the seven can agree on."

Sargus Against Repeal

Another member of the committee, Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, D-St. Clairsville, said he definitely would vote against any move to repeal the blue laws. I'm opposed to repeal," said Sargus. "and I'm concerned about 209 (the house bill) as to the items that can be sold on Sunday—the commodity list. I think the list needs tightening."

On the other hand, Sen. Charles H. Jones, R—Hamilton, said he would support expansion of the list.

Advertising Unit Evaluates Problems Faced by Nation

The most succinct, nonpartisan, constructive presentation of problems faced by the United States at home or abroad—and what individual citizens can do about them—may be found in a 32-page pamphlet now being offered free by The Advertising Council.

The title is "Challenge to Americans" with a subtitle, "The Struggle We Face and How to Help Win It."

More than 150,000 copies have been distributed. With a newspaper good will advertising campaign coming up in the near future, the hope is that a million copies will be put in circulation—maybe more.

IN A WORLD and in a country where the clamor and confusion of carping criticism by lame brain extremists has become the theme song for national and international despair, "Challenge for Americans" is inspirational in a frankly do-good approach.

It opens with a two-page foreword by President Kennedy and a one-page foreword by former President Eisenhower. This gives "The Challenge" bipartisan backing in place of the usual bickering heard in Congress and country. must match great challenges with great achievements."

Excerpt from Eisenhower: "The important thing is to do something."

After the introductions come five two-page easy-to-read chapters: The Challenge of the Awakening Peoples, The Scientific and Technological Challenge, The Challenge of International Cooperation, The Communist Challenge and The Challenge of Our Own Permanent Revolution.

AFTER EACH CHAPTER is a one-page list of short suggestions on "What You Can Do to Help" meet each of these challenges. Here are random samples from each list of suggested actions:

"Learn more about our neighbors around the world. Keep up with the news. . . . Comment those local newspapers, television and radio stations which give full attention to news interpretation."

"Through PTAs, the press, the ballot box, join with other citizens in working for better and more science courses in schools."

"Study the purposes of international organizations."

"Study communism, its background, tactics and goals. . . . Rely on the Federal Bureau of Investigation as the appropriate agency to investigate possible subversive activities within the U.S. Discourage self-appointed vigilante groups from attempting to perform such delicate functions. . . . Avoid the extremes of complacency and despair. Have confidence in the final outcome."

"Do your part in encouraging law observance and the prevention of crime and juvenile delinquency."

THE ADVERTISING COUNCIL, which gives all this free advice is the public service organization representing all U.S. advertising media. It was born in World War II, but it has kept up its support of worth causes for 20 years under both Democratic and Republican administrations.

It has contributed talent, time and space at its own expense to promote safety, savings bond drives, forest fire prevention, aid to higher education, freedom from hunger, physical fitness and mental health, Radio Free Europe and Peace Corps recruiting. All these are continuing programs.

In tackling the new "Challenge to America" drive, however, the council got into a new field of promoting abstract ideas.

After two years of preparation, says Council President Theodore.

Repplier, "We have launched a campaign of such potential usefulness as to dwarf anything we have done in peacetime."

There is a final "Call to Greatness" facing a full-page picture of the Liberty Bell in the pamphlet, from which a few lines may be worth quoting to give the flavor of the thing:

"This nation was forged in the crucible of rebellion. . . . Today's America has emerged from the challenges of yesterday. . . . We are in for a long struggle. . . . It is a time for each of us to do. . . some thing extra. . . which contributes to our nation's strength, unity and progress."

The board announced the resignation of Miss Hazel Hartzell, who has taught in the system for 51 years, and made a resolution of commendation for her fine service.

In other business, the board authorized extra duty assignments for the next school year and adopted the new school calendar. Announcement was made of participation in the National Defense Education Act at a cost of $2,800.

Two teachers will be hired during summer vacation to paint McKinley High School and two boys will be hired to paint the bleachers in the stadium at the high school.

Next meeting will be June 12.

Traffic Safety Unit Gets County Funds

LISBON — County Commissioner Galen Greenstein of Salem presented a check for $200 to the Traffic Safety Committee at its meeting Wednesday evening in Village Hall to further the group's program in the county.

Jud English of East Liverpool, chairman, presided. The main discussion was on the drivers improvement clinic which the group hopes to sponsor on a county-wide basis.

The county court at East Palestine has been screening a traffic film once a month, and the group would like to consolidate this program with its own.

English reported that a film, "Emergency in the Making," is available at the A.A.A. office in East Liverpool for clubs or civic organizations.

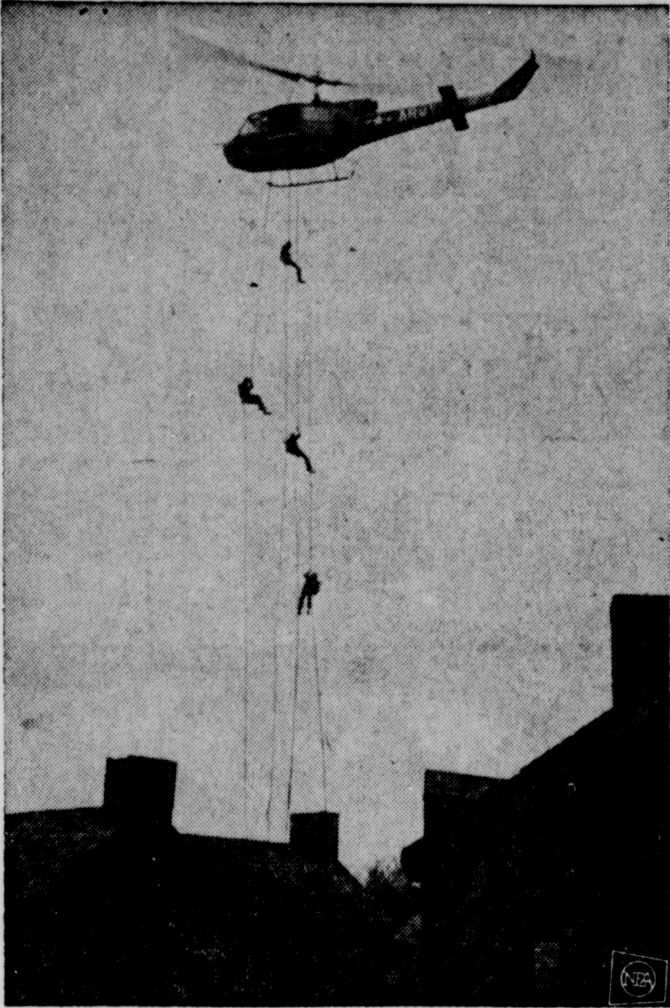

The committee's next meeting will be held June 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the same location.

Power Service Near Lisbon Disrupted

LISBON — The Ohio Edison Co. called out emergency repair crews last night to repair the electric lines on Fairfield and Church Hill roads, northeast of Lisbon.

Power was disrupted at 7:25 when a tree limb fell across two lines.

Electric was off in the area from 2½ to 3½ hours, Deane Beck, manager of the Lisbon Ohio Edison office, reported.

VERTICAL ENVELOPMENT — Four riflemen of the 101st Airborne Division attack a mock enemy village at Fort Campbell, Ky. The soldiers drop from a UH-1 Iroquois helicopter using the technique of rappelling (descending by rope), which the Army borrowed from Alpine mountain climbers. The attack on the village was filmed for nationwide showing on television in June.

Moffett's Store Celebrates Opening

Moffett's Men's Wear, 360 E. State St., began its three-day grand opening today, offering a complete line of men's furnishings in completely new surroundings.

Russell Moffett, proprietor, said a new front had been added, ceilings lowered, and the interior generally refurbished at the brick-fronted business establishment. Associates in the 14-year-old business are Moffett's son, Gary, and Kenneth Phillip.

The shop was originally opened under the name of Moffett-Hone in 1949 after the Squire Shop, operated by Walter Cowan, went out of business.

Moffett came to Salem 14 years ago after a term of service with Lazarus department store in Columbus.

New Postoffice At Wellsville Planned

WELLSVILLE — The Post Office Department will ask for bids Monday for construction of a new post office in Wellsville.

The bids will be opened July 9 at the Cincinnati regional office. The department has acquired a site on the north side of 11th St. from Main to Center Sts.

Canadian Parliament Assembles

Pearson's Nuclear Decision Heads for Early Challenge

By MAX HARRELSON
OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's decision to accept nuclear weapons appeared headed for an early challenge as Canada's new Parliament assembled today amid traditional pomp and ceremony.

No political fireworks were expected at the opening meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Knopp called on Mr. Knopp's sister, Mrs. Ray August, a patient at Aultman Hospital in Canton.

Miss Beverly Utterback will represent the North Lima Calvary EUB Church as a junior counselor at Camp Wanake in June.

MATHIAS HAUS, JR. and Jay Utterback joined with other boys of Troop 116 from Greenford on a hike through Mill Creek Park in Youngstown.

Visitors at the home of Russell Garber and mother, Mrs. Lena Garber, were: Mrs. Arthur Kutz, Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Heck of New Springfield, Mr. and Mrs. Russel Kibler of East Palestine and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vollnogle of Columbiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hively, Mr. and Mrs. James Justice and Mrs. Harvey Ewing visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Miller of Dunganon.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL at the local EUB Church will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. June 3 — 7 with the closing program June 9. Theme for the five-day course will be "Living With Christ" with Mrs. Carl Hively director.

Mrs. Henry Hendricks has been named to represent the local EUB Church at the annual Ohio East Conference at Vermillion the week of June 9 with Mrs. Carl Hively as alternate.

Recent callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hendricks were Mr. and Mrs. Edison Cornea of New Willington, Pa. and Murray Henry of North Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hofmann called on Mrs. Edmund Hofmann, who is assisting at the home of Mrs. Joseph Mariett of Youngstown.

however The chief business was the speech from the throne, outlining the new Liberal government's legislative program. Opposition leaders will get a chance Monday to deal with the nuclear issue when they answer the throne speech.

The throne speech usually is read by the governor general, but Chief Justice Robert Taschereau was chosen to substitute for ailing Gov. Gen. Georges Vanier.

Forecasts said the speech would place heavy emphasis on measures to boost Canada's economy. The federal budget will not be submitted until mid-June.

Because the Liberal party has only a minority of the House of Commons seats the debate on the throne speech will have unusual significance. The government could be toppled by a vote of no confidence. Political observers generally predict that the opposition leaders will strike out vigorously at the nuclear decision announced in Hyannis Port, Mass., last Saturday but that they will not try to bring down the government.

The Liberals hold 129 of the 265 seats in the House of Commons. The Conservatives have 95 seats; the Social Credit 23 and the New Democratic party 17. There is one independent Social Credit member.

GOOD NEWS FOR GIRLS — The number of men between the ages of 18 and 24 in the U.S. is expected to increase sharply in coming years. Reflecting the post-World War II baby boom, their numbers will probably grow from nearly nine million at present to 12 1/4 million in 1970 and possibly 14 1/2 million by 1980. Newsmap above, based on data from Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., shows the present and projected growth of men in two categories, ages 18 to 21 and 22 to 24.

House Okays 'Golden Age Village' Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With considerable Democratic help, the Ohio House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill to construct "Golden-Age Villages" for Ohio's non-psychotic aged.

The 94-29 action signalled, for all practical purposes, the end of the stream of bills through the House sponsored by the Republican administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

About the only Rhodes bill left in the house is a measure to permit Ohio to participate in the federal program of Aid to the Dependent Children of the Unemployed (ADCU).

Another major piece of legislation still pending in the House is to modify in a number of ways the present law covering payments to Ohioans injured while working at their jobs.

Approval of the "Golden-Age Villages" measure came after prolonged Democratic opposition which asserted that the same program had been started three years ago by the Democratic administration of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle without any cost to the taxpayers.

Rhodes adherents retorted that because projects authorized by a three-member building authority would be financed by revenue bonds, there would be no cost to the taxpayer. They said bonds for the projects would be retired from rents and fees charged village occupants who would be, presumably, receiving either Social Security or Aid for Aged payments. The legislative day also saw the introduction of a bill in the House to provide up to $20 million in money is available.

In general summation, the measure carries $11 million in general revenue funds. It includes $4.5 million for improvements at state universities, another $250,000 for a Cuyahoga County community college, $3.3 million in waterway safety funds and another $1 million in wildlife funds.

DEAF MAN PERFECTS SMALLEST HEARING AID

AKRON, Ohio—A remarkable midget hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

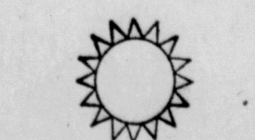

This small aid has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a most unusual idea and design in a product for the hard of hearing.

It is especially made for those people who can hear but not understand. This new hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television, and radio at his ear rather than a transmitter located in the wearer's clothing.

Due to the use of 4 transistors, the user cost is extremely low and the instrument weighs approximately 1/4 ounce. It is about the size of a sewing thimble.

No salesman will urge you to buy a hearing aid. You will receive full information without any obligation whatever.

Salem Teams Enter District Title Races Friday

Quakers Host Track Classic

Golf, Tennis Units Travel for Events

By MARK W. MILLER
News Sports Editor

For the first time in recent years, track, tennis and golf teams will represent Salem in Class AA District events Friday. Coach Karl Zellers and the Quaker thinclads will be hosts for the annual district cinder carnival, which is attracting 35 schools at Reilly Stadium tomorrow.

Four Salem golf sharpshooters, picked from a field of 70 intramural golfers, will compete against Ravenna and Southeast at Canton.

Six boys began practice only a week ago and will seek laurels in the district tennis tournament at Volney Rogers school courts in Youngstown.

FOR THE TRACK classic here, Youngstown South has been rated a slight favorite to dethrone last year's champion Rayen.

Strong squads from Warren, Columbiana and Salem should provide stiff opposition. A few other schools have one or two outstanding boys who will make the program as interesting as any in the past several years.

It appears that all of the 14 events will be close, with the mile run, hurdles, relays, high jump and 880-yard run wide open for new champs.

With the exception of the pole vault, this year's times, distances and heights, on paper, have all improved over the final results of the 1962 classic.

Some of the performers returning are milers David Brooks of Ravenna, who won the distance race in '62, and Oscar Brown of Rayen. Salem's junior distance star John Tarleton and the above two boys have all bettered 4:38 in the event.

RAY WINSTON and Charles Washington of Rayen are coming back for a shot at the hurdles, along with Al Bogan of South.

Bill Beery of Salem was second in the 440-yard dash last year and he is a slight favorite to take the quarter mile Friday.

James Howard and Reedy Thomas will return for Warren to compete in the 220-yard dash, and their teammate Andy Shannon will try again for top honors in the 880-yard run.

The preliminarise will start at 1:30 p.m. and all the field events will be completed during the afternoon session. Prelims and semi-finals will also be held in the dashes, and the finals are scheduled to start at 7:30.

SALEM'S GOLF AND TENNIS teams have come along under the supervision of Physical Education Director Bob Miller and the two units are eager for the chance to participate in the district tourneys.

The Quakers' Ray Rogers has been seeded number one in singles for the tennis event and Ursuline's Varley-Fleming combination are top-seeded in the doubles.

Players on the Salem aggregation are Bob Strain, Larry Deitch, Greg Gross, Cody Goard, Jim Garrett and Rogers.

Cardinal Mooney, Howland, Nilles, Warren Harding, Canfield, Boardman and Salem will have entries in the event.

Out of the 70 candidates in the intermural golf program Dick Stark, Charles Rheutan, Mike Rians, Dick Juhn, Ron Eichler and Jim Miller have battled into position to represent the Quakers at the district.

ONLY FOUR of the above six will make the trip and the selection will be made just prior to the trip. The six are shooting consistant average rounds of 46.

In matches this year the Red and Black have posted a 5-3 record. Their victories include Leontonia, 5-4; Garretttsville twice, 8-0; and United twice, 6-2. The Quakers lost to West Branch twice, 5-4, 5-3; and Columbiana, 4½-3½.

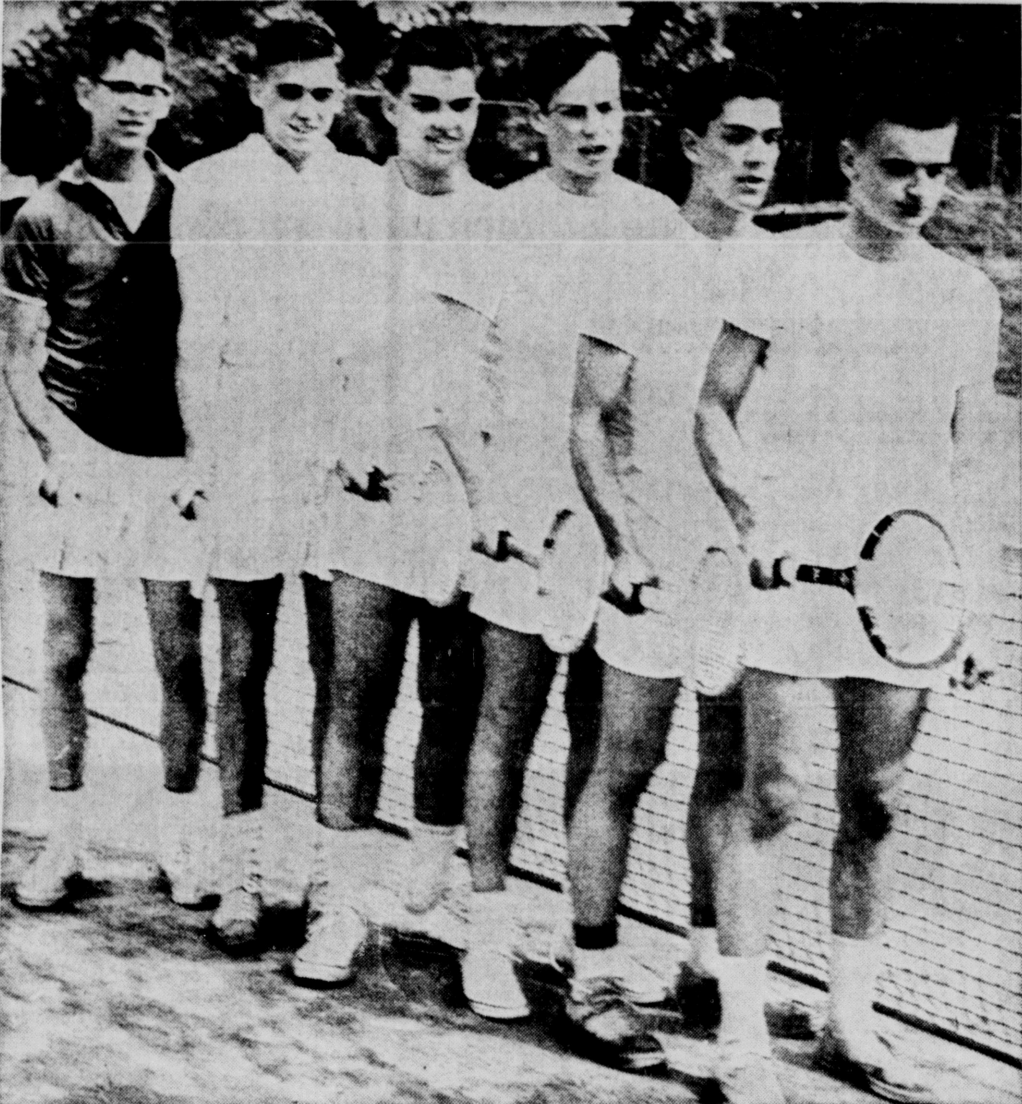

Other players that have competed in the golf program this spring include John Harroff, Tracy Bissell, Fred Naragon, Ray Rogers, Rick Sweitzer, Marlin Waller, Rick Platt, Don Kendrick, Jon Steele, Gary Starbuck, George Johnston, Richard Parlon-tieri, Joe Null, Dick Lawrence, Bob King, George Begalla, Mike Joseph, Larry Reader, Lee Schnell, Dave Hartsough, Doug Kilman, and Frank Flooding.

Grant Stops A's On 2-Hitter As Indians Post 1-0 Victory

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jim (Mudcat) Grant has been alternately hot and cold since he was hit on the arm by a line drive last month, but when he's hot, man, he really stops 'em.

The Cleveland righthander hurled a two-hitter Wednesday night as he stopped the Rampaging Kansas City Athletics cold, 1-0.

Mudcat, in his sixth season with the Indians, called it one of the best performances he ever turned in.

"I'd say I only threw four or five bad pitches, and for me that's real good," he told reporters in the dressing room.

It was Jim's second shutout. Grant (3-3) gave up a double to Wayne Causey in the third inning, then proceeded to set down 13 consecutive batters. The second hit, a single, came in the eighth inning.

The happy Mudcat said of the game: "That one was for little Jimmy." Little Jimmy is Grant's week-old son, who comes home from the hospital today.

Orlando Pena did a fine job pitching for the Athletics. He gave up only four hits in the seven innings he worked.

The Indians got their run in the first inning on singles by Vic

Davalillo, Al Luplow and Tito Francona. Pena settled down then and blanked the Indians until he was removed for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The league-leading Chicago White Sox dropped into town for a single game tonight. Cleveland's Dick Donovan will face John Buzhardt of the White Sox.

BATTING—Dick Stuart, Red Sox, drove in seven runs in 9-3,

7-6 doubleheader sweep over Los Angeles Angels, hitting grand slam homer in first game and hitting three-run homer in nightcap before scoring winning run in eighth inning.

Boston Sweeps Doubleheader From Los Angeles

Stuart Belts 2 Home Runs

Chisox Triumph 7-4; Yankees Edge Twins

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a tough day for the Los Angeles Angels. First they were routed out of their hotel by a fire, then routed out of Fenway Park by a fiery first baseman.

Dick Stuart, who says he's worried about his hitting, drove in seven runs on two homers—one a grand slam—and led Boston to a doubleheader sweep of the Angels, 9-3 and 7-6 Wednesday night.

Stuart's heroics propelled the surprising Red Sox into second place in the American League, one game back of the Chicago White Sox, who scored a 7-4 victory over Detroit.

Mudcat Grant blanked Kansas City 1-0 on a two-hitter for Cleveland and Baltimore whipped Washington 7-1 on Milt Pappas' three-hitter in other night games, while the New York Yankees edged Minnesota 4-3 in the only day game.

Grant allowed only a double by Wayne Causey and a single by Chuck Essegian and retired 13 men in a row over one stretch in his outstanding effort against Kansas City. Tito Francona drove in both Indian runs with a first-inning single.

Pappas, 3-0 for the season, retired 18 Senators in order at one stretch in his three-hitter. He lost his shutout when Ken Retzer hit an eighth-inning homer. Jim Gentile, Jackie Brandt and Jerry Adair had homers for the Orioles.

Ron Hansen keyed a five-run fifth inning for the White Sox with a bases-loaded single and Dave Nicholson stroked a two-run homer in the victory over Detroit. Juan Pizarro won his third without loss, but needed help from Jim Brosnan in the eighth.

Elston Howard's eighth-inning single drove in the tie-breaking run for the Yankees, who handed the stumbling Twins their 11th loss in their last 14 games. Mickey Mantle had a two-run homer in the sixth for the Yanks.

Hendley Just Misses No-Hitter As Braves Whip Cardinals 9-3

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee's Bob Hendley made like Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers. Koufax didn't.

While Koufax was making his first appearance since pitching a no-hitter against San Francisco, Hendley stole the spotlight by hurling the Braves to a 9-3 triumph over St. Louis Wednesday night and coming within two outs of matching the Koufax 4-day-old masterpiece.

Hendley got Julian Javier on a grounder to open the ninth, but pinch-hitter George Altman reached first when Frank Bolling booted his grounder.

That seemed to unsettle Hendley, who was then tagged for a triple to right center by Curt Flood for the first St. Louis hit. Before Hendley regained his composure, the Cardinals had two more hits and three runs. But nothing could dim the performance of the 24-year-old left-hander, who pitched probably the finest game in his three seasons in the majors.

Koufax was touched for 11 hits, but struck out 12 and won his fourth in a row when Ron Fairly drove in the decisive run with a two-out single in the 12th inning and gave the Dodgers a 3-2 triumph over Philadelphia.

In other National League action, first-place San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 4-3, Cincinnati belted Chicago's Cubs 10-2 and the New York Mets downed Houston 10-2 and the New York Mets downed Houston 7-4, ending the Colts winning streak at six.

The Giants broke a scoreless tie against loser Don Cardwell in the fifth after Orlando Cepeda led off with the inning's only hit, a pop fly that dropped in short center. Cardwell, now 1-5, walked winning pitcher Juan Marichal to force in one run and hit Felipe Alou to force in another before Bob Bailey bobbled Willie Mays' grounder and let in two more runs. Marichal brought his record to 5-3 with Bob Bolin's relief help.

Frank Robinson led the Reds, collecting a single, double and triple, driving in three runs and stealing a base. Jim Maloney, 5-1, was the winner. Glen Hobbie, 1-4 the loser.

Al Jackson sparked two rallies with singles and drove in a run with a sacrifice fly as he won his fourth against three losses for the Mets. Jackson scattered six hits and had allowed only an unearned run when John Bateman brought the Colts close in the ninth with a three-run homer.

Syracuse NBA Team Is Sold

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Subject to league approval, the Syracuse Nationals of the National Basketball Association have been sold to a group of Philadelphia businessmen who plan to move the club to Philadelphia.

“It simply got to be impossible to operate.” The Nats had been fixtures in Syracuse for 17 years but despite their 48-32 record and second place finish in the Eastern Division last season, the club lost $39,000.

Although the Philadelphia group was not identified at its request, Biasone said the sale was handled by the Philadelphia law firm of Richman, Price and Jamieson.

In Philadelphia, Isaac Richman of the firm said the new owners are a group of businessmen not connected before with sports. He said Eddie Gottlieb, former owner of the Philadelphia Warriors, is not a member of the group. He refused to identify the businessmen and when asked if he thought the league would approve of them, said: “These men are reputable.” Philadelphia has been without an NBA franchise since the Warriors were sold and moved to San Francisco before last season.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Chemical Makeup Of the Body

What are little boys made of? The question once received a fanciful answer. Today, we are acquiring more accurate knowledge of what elements are necessary to the proper function of the human body. Some of the most fascinating aspects of this subject have to do with the so-called trace elements — those bits of mineral, present in such small amounts that, until recent years, we didn't even know they were a part of our bodies. Only with the discovery of delicate and precise means of chemical analysis was the presence in the body of such elements as iodine, copper and zinc revealed. THE AVERAGE adult body contains about one twothousandth of an ounce of iodine, most of which is concentrated in the thyroid. But without this minute amount, it would be impossible for the body to maintain a normal metabolic rate.

Iron was recognized as an important constituent of the blood long before anyone realized that copper was just as essential, although in a far smaller amount. Without copper, the bone marrow cannot use the iron that is present to manufacture the hemoglobin needed in the blood to carry oxygen to the tissues. As a result, a form of anemia would develop.

Vitamin B-12 was recognized as a substance the lack of which would cause pernicious anemia. But only recently was it discovered that without cobalt there can be no effective vitamin B-12.

SUCH DISCOVERIES have helped your doctor to sort out different kinds of anemia and to treat each kind with greater assurance of success.

Most of the trace elements are vital links in one of the enzymes that control the indispensable chemical reactions of the body.

Zinc, for example, is an essential part of an enzyme that permits the red blood cells to carry carbon dioxide, a product of cellular fatigue, to the lungs. This and other chemical reactions in the body that involve carbon dioxide depend on the zinc-containing enzyme. Zinc is also a component of one of the enzymes of digestion found in the intestines. Manganese is found in one of the enzymes necessary for the kidneys to form urea from ammonia, and thus enables the body to eliminate a waste product which, if allowed to accumulate, would poison us. It is also present in other important enzymes.

ALTHOUGH FLUORINE is not essential in the body's metabolism, it is present in varying minute amounts in the natural water of most regions. When the concentration is too low, dental decay, especially in children, increases.

Fluorine, when present, does not strengthen the teeth directly, but neutralizes the enzymes that are produced by the bacteria in the mouth that would otherwise dissolve the dental enamel.

Like copper, cadmium is found in every part of the body. As yet no one knows what its function is but the fact that it is present throughout the body suggests that it, too, plays a vital role.

The chemists of the future undoubtedly will discover what that role is. When they do, they will have helped your doctor to a better understanding of your body and the forces that help and hinder its normal workings.

INFORMAL ART SHOW

THERE ARE high-toned art museums where the visitors examine masterpieces in hushed tones and then there is the Atlanta, Ga., Arts Festival. This ten-day jamboree attracts more than 200 thousand persons and there isn't a "Do Not Touch" sign anywhere. Professional and amateur craftsmen and artists exhibit their works in the festival, which is a shirt-sleeves family affair. The children are encouraged not only to look, but to touch and even to taste if they so desire. A 1,000-man volunteer arts committee sets up and staffs centers where young artisans work.

Membership Rises From 39 In '57 To 289

By VIRGINIA HURRAY
Senior Citizens Month, being observed in Ohio in May by proclamation of the governor, has special interest in Salem where a Senior Citizens Club was organized by Mrs. Raymond Stiver on Dec. 21, 1956.

Since the first meeting of the club in the Memorial Building on Jan. 16, 1957, membership has increased from 39 men and women of 60 years of age or older to a current membership of 289. The increase has been more than 700 per cent.

Members hold weekly drop-in meetings on Wednesday afternoons from 1 to 4, when cards, games and just plain visiting are in order. On the fourth Wednesday afternoon of each month, a business meeting and birthday party is held, with all members having birthdays during the current month getting special honors.

MEETINGS AND MOST activities take place in the Memorial Building and are conducted generally by the membership itself. New activities have been added each year since the club's beginning. Mrs. Stiver, supervisor, says her aim has been to see that the club offers "Something for everyone regardless of his or her interests."

Co-sponsored by the Salem Park Commission and the Memorial Building Association, the club is considered one of the finest of its kind in Ohio for the size of this city. The Salem club's programing and activities compare with those of senior citizens clubs of larger cities, say persons who have observed various organizations of golden age citizens.

IN ADDITION TO THE Wednesday afternoon social and business meetings, 25 members of the STRIKE UP THE BAND! — Members of the popular Kitchen Band are (l. to r.) Mrs. Laura Kennedy, drummer; Mrs. Anne Farmer, Mrs. Connie Everett, with a glockenspiel made of a pastry roller, and trombonists Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, Mrs. Mae Zimmerman and Mrs. Carrie Gray. The trombones are made from antenna tubing donated by Alexander's TV service.

Salem Senior Citizens Club participate in a weekly current events discussion, holding cracker barrel sessions from 10 a. m. to noon from mid-September to mid-May. Generally, eight bus trips are scheduled each year, with members traveling to points of interest 50 or 60 miles from Salem. The recent trip to the tulip gardens at Kingwood Center in Mansfield, 100 miles away, was longer than most of the bus excursions. Next month the Salem Senior Citizens will have a bus trip to Warren to see the play "Show Boat," and in July they will go to Cleveland for a ball game.

THIRTY-NINE MEMBERS of the Salem club participate in a Senior Citizens Kitchen Band; 35 in a Senior Citizens Chorus; 20 in a tambourine band.

On Thursdays from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. from mid-September to mid-May, about 60 members work at ceramics and wood crafts, do glass etching, and copper tooling and reed weaving, and make plastic flowers. On alternating years, crafts by the senior citizens are displayed in a hobby show at the Memorial Building.

Members also participate in service projects every other Thursday, making such items as cancer pads, Red Cross packets, multiple sclerosis tags, or other items requested for community use.

There are no dues for membership in the Senior Citizens Club of Salem.

Ohio Has Shortage Of Tech Schools

By PHIL GUNBY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—What's all this about technical schools? Essentially, their job is to prepare technicians, specialists to fill the increasing number of manpower vacancies between the are of the skilled craftsman and responsibilities calling for a graduate professional.

Ten are operating now in co-operation with public schools under standards established by the State Board of Education. An 11th opens Sept. 30 in Columbus.

That's still less than half the number Ohio probably needs. "One study, I think, indicated this probably could use 25 to 27 technical schools," says Harry F. Davis of Mansfield, an assistant supervisor of trade and industrial education for the State Education Department.

Because the program is relatively new, and because training frequently is conducted in high school buildings Davis says it sometimes is confused with undergraduate high school courses, or with trade school. And some parents seem to think it's a little less respectable than four years of college.

"The principal difference," suggests an editorial in a quarterly publication of the Willoughby-Eastlake (Chandler) technical school, "is that it is shorter than the normal four-year college program."

"It is a two-year concentration on technical know-how and know-why, designed to make the graduate highly employable as the middle man between the engineer and the man on the machine."

Presently, 713 students are enrolled in electrical, mechanical, chemical, data processing and industrial technology courses at the schools in Barberton, Lorain, Cleveland, Salem, Mansfield, Canton, Willoughby-Eastlake, Ashtabula, Springfield and Hamilton.

Davis believes enrollment will more than double in the 1963-64 school year. Noting that courses in agriculture-business are being introduced at Springfield, he foresees eventual expansion of training to include technology in health law enforcement and many other fields.

After some tricky floor maneuvering, the 1961 legislature set up a procedure for technical institutes supported entirely with local funds. But none have been established under this authorization.

A bill under consideration in this session would permit them to be called "institutes" and allow boards of education to set them up and appoint three of five trustees. The governor would appoint the other two.

Because semi-professional training in technical schools benefits defense production, the federal government makes money available on a 50-50 matching basis under the National Defense Education Act.

That's how the state-supervised technical school program in Ohio (there are at least five private technical schools) got started in 1959.

For the current year, Washington made $664,757 available, and $200,000 was appropriated by Ohio's General Assembly. Local funds—when available—and tuition meet the rest of the cost. Average tuition is $278 per student.

Stretcher Cases

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Compared to the sweatshops of the past the modern business office would seem a healthy place to earn a dollar.

It is comfortable, air-conditioned and so well lighted one can work out a crossword puzzle on the job surreptitiously without danger of eye strain.

But for some reason most offices resembled battlefield aid stations. They are full of the walking wounded and incipient stretcher cases.

Naturally, many of the illnesses of the white collar worker are imaginary. He invents them to help pass the time. If you have ever labored in a paper clip salt mine, here are a few swivel chair hypochondriacs you may find familiar:

"Fridayitis" — This guy drifts his pay on Thursday so he can have a longer weekend to spend his money.

"Mondayitis" — Very popular with suburbanites this time of year. Also called "The Green Thumb Disease." Victims complain of dizziness and backstrain. Cause: Too much Saturday and Sunday gardening.

"Fridayitis-Mondayitis" — This fellow is mad at the corporation and phones in sick two days a week so he can look for a better job on company time.

"Two Buck Emaciation" — The office gambler looks like he is suffering from a wasting disease. Actually he is merely suffering from starvation, because he loses all his money at the racetrack.

"Florence Nightingale Syndrome" — The boss' secretary is a mother hen who clucks constantly over the illness of others.

"Cleanliness Complex" — He has a phobia that everyone else in the place is trying to push their germs off on him. If you sneeze within 75 feet of him, he rushes to the company medical office, has his throat sprayed, and lies down for an hour.

"Old Grumpy Himself" — Whenever the boss falls ill, the nature of his malady is regarded as top secret. But whatever it is, the only known cure is a week of golfing in Florida.

The trouble with office hypochondriacs is that when anyone comes down with a disease a doctor can actually diagnose, he crawls painfully to work, even though he feels at death's door, for fear everyone else will feel he is malingering.
